PE and Sport Premium

2015 - 2016 - A year at a glance

Summary

Last year was a very successful and eventful year at SASM for PE and sports. Money was allocated across a range of areas, from hiring specialist teachers, to mass participation in competitions and new sports, such as dodgeball. A specialist Zumba teacher came in to support Year five over a whole half term, helping to create new, exciting lesson plans. Pupils experienced high-level teaching, allowing teachers to observe and write lesson plans, week by week to be used in future years. "Observing the Zumba teacher last year, and developing plans based on her lessons, really improved my subject knowledge in an area I would not normally feel confident teaching. It also helped to provide children with challenging and varied indoor PE lessons, and livened up some previous, rather 'stale' plans. I'll be passing on my subject knowledge to another year 5 teacher this year so the learning will continue."

Ensuring all pupils are exposed to a range of sports is fundamental in developing a range of skills and lifelong enjoyment and participation. Through our annual National School Sports Week, money was allocated to hiring specialist coaches (golf and handball) and a subscription to Morden Hall Park for orienteering. GUGA Fit was also a great success, where all children (and adults) danced to music and learnt about healthy-eating in a fun and engaging way. This in turn led to some Year six children being trained as GUGAfit leaders, who then led GUGAfit dance and fitness sessions every lunch time, further encouraging children of all abilities to get active. SASM also offered a free club to all pupils in receipt of pupil premium.

Coupled with this, by attending all KSSP borough competitions (providing over 180 pupil opportunities for competition) SASM came very high in the borough for competition participation. Pupils from a range of backgrounds and abilities, including those that might not normally have this opportunity, were chosen.

Catching pupils who do not go on active residential trips e.g. Marchants Hill, is a real strength of SASM. Organising day trips to a range of sports and physical activities e.g. White Spider Climbing and Thames Young Mariners, allowed those to become engaged and develop teamwork skills.

Equipment was bought (football goals, tennis nets, netball posts) to increase participation in PE lessons and our Sainsbury's Games Day. (See impact report in 2015-2016 for further details).

Finally, money was invested to transform our playground into a wonderful new space for the children to enjoy. Here, there are numerous opportunities for the children to get active (including gym equipment, table tennis tables and a climbing wall) while still allowing for the inter-house competitions to occur every lunch time. The playground has been made accessible to all children and has been a huge success so far.

	Category	Price	Objectives and Impact
External Gym Specialist	1,3,5,6	£1000	Hire a specialist teacher to team teach: supporting the planning and delivery of high quality and inclusive gymnastics lessons (all children reached). It is key that we maximise the use of our facilities and develop our indoor non-ball based activities. Subsequent opportunity may exist to establish an after school gymnastics club.
External Hockey Specialist	1,3,5,6	£1720	Hire a specialist teacher to team teach: supporting the planning and delivery of high quality and inclusive hockey lessons (240 children reached). This capitalises on an opportunity to develop a non-main stream mixed gender sport that makes full use of the new MUGA. It creates links with a local external sport's club that has the ability to sustain and inspire those children that are engaged and/or G&T. An after school club is already established.
Non-swimmers	2,8	£500	Pupils who cannot swim by Year 6 will be given an opportunity to learn again through professional swimming instructors.

Photos

Having a rich bank of photos and videos of our pupils enjoying the sport and physical activities that we provide, is imperative to us. No matter whether it is a normal PE lesson, our Sainsbury's School Games Day, or a KSSP borough competition, it is important to motivate our pupils to enjoy and succeed.

"We can only try our best – it is our first time playing as a team"- Year 4

"PE is my favourite lesson – I love how I get better, the more I practice!" - Year 3

Sustainability

Specialists teaching teachers how to deliver high-level PE lessons is far more superior than specialists just teaching the pupils. Teaching teachers allows them to go on and inspire and develop in years to come. Hiring a specialist gymnastic and hockey company to deliver sessions for teachers to plan from has had a huge effect on those current pupils but will also impact upon future pupils.

Incorporating the daily mile into the school day will encourage and foster a love of physical activity amongst the pupils. Creating this love, will carry on through their childhood and hopefully into their adulthood, forming healthy habits at a young age.

Inviting sportsmen and women to come into school and talk to the children will help to inspire and motivate the children to succeed in sports. These talks will allow the children to learn what is required to take sport to the next level and will encourage commitment and resilience in the children.

Adopting a mass-participation approach and ensuring that a diverse range of pupils attend KSSP borough competitions, exposes pupils to healthy competition. Learning to accept defeat, developing teamwork skills, respecting others and developing a sense of 'sportsperson-ship' and belonging are all skills that can develop through this competition.

Ensuring the lunchtime supervisors/PE co-ordinator run playground activities to encourage sports participation, will help to keep pupils active. It is a great chance to involve the least active through activities like skipping workshops.
